Observe Golden Rule Sunday

International Golden Rule Sunday will be observed on December 2, 1928. "Whatever ye would that others should do unto you do ye so unto them." In this connection President Coolidge has sent the following endorsement to the Golden Rule Committee:

Gentlemen:
I regard International Golden Rule Sunday as a movement of much importance. Begun in an attempt to care for the orphaned children in Near East Relief orphanages, it has been extended to other countries. Practical help is the best expression of friendship. The aid we may give out of our abundance to those less fortunately situated than we should be of great value in bringing about the application of the Golden Rule to the settlement of misunderstandings among nations as well as among individuals. I hope the voluntary observance of this day may become increasingly prevalent in America and throughout the world.

Very truly yours,
(signed) CALVIN COOLIDGE

COOLIDGE to ALFONSO

"I believe it to be true that when two men can talk together the danger of any serious disagreement is immeasurably lessened and that what is true of individuals is true of nations. The international telephone, therefore, which carries the warmth and the friendliness of the human voice, will always correct what might be misinterpreted in the written word."

President Coolidge to King Alfonso of Spain at the opening of trans-Atlantic telephone service between Madrid and the United States, October 13, 1928.

True of nations. True of individuals. True of your business, and of you.

In a letter (which comes cold to your correspondent) it's not always easy exactly to express your meaning, be it ever so clear to you as you write.

Talk will do it—two-way talk. Face-to-face or by telephone, talk makes every shade of meaning clear.

Prove it to yourself

Test it with that distant customer. Put into your telephone selling the warmth and friendliness of your personality. It will register.

THEATRES

METROPOLITAN THEATRE

As a soldier, and as a pirate, Victor McLaglen, he-man of the films, is believed to have contributed his two best screen roles to date. Some months ago as the intrepid "Captain Flag" in Raoul Walsh's epic of the screen, "What Price Glory", McLaglen gave the outstanding portrayal of the year and won the acclaim of millions.

Just recently McLaglen has completed another equally colorful role as "Sailor Frink" in Fox Films' production, "The River Pirate", a rousing romance of adventure of modern buccaners of the waterfront of Manhattan. This super-production, which will be shown at the Metropolitan Theatre starting Friday, November 16th, is expected to be classed as one of the ten leading pictures of 1928.

The stellar stage attraction at the Metropolitan, starting Friday, will be the world-famous "Singers Midgets" in "Minutemen of 1929", a Public production, devised and staged by Boris Petroff. "Singers Midgets" is the most widely celebrated and popular of all European theatrical ensembles, and comes to the Metropolitan direct from a triumphal season in the Continental capitals. This tour for Public is their first in America in 1928, and is assisted in the fun will be Gene Rodemich and his Public Playboys.

An enormous programme has been arranged for the week starting November 23rd. Fanny Brice, star of "Ziegfeld Follies", and headliner of stage, vaudeville, radio and pictures, will be seen in person at the Metropolitan in her greatest comedy and dramatic act of the year. In addition to Fanny Brice, Gene Rodemich and his Public Playboys will be seen in a frothy, colorful, scintillating revue known as "Bubbles".

Metropolitan in her greatest comedy and dramatic act of the year. In addition to Fanny Brice, Gene Rodemich and his Public Playboys will be seen in a frothy, colorful, scintillating revue known as "Bubbles".

B. F. KEITH MEMORIAL THEATRE

The dashing, dapper, handsome Jack Osterman, prince of that popular art, "wise-cracking", is coming as the headliner to the New B. F. Keith Memorial Theatre next week straight from New York triumphs in a skit called "Broadway's Playboy".

On or off the stage, Jack, who is one of the youngest singles in variety, is truly a Broadway playboy. With his cane and his swagger and his debonair breezy lines, he has taken New York by storm. With a patter that is as rapid, sophisticated and swift, he has sung and danced his way into stardom in "Molly Darling", in a "Night in Paris" in various Schubert revues, in "Artists and Models", and in any number of night clubs including the "Casa Lopez". Despite all these successes in other fields, he is at his best in vaudeville.

Another real headline act on the Keith bill is William Morris and Family in a sketch entitled "All the Horrors of Home". The sketch is the work of William Morris himself and the actors who appear in it are all members of his family. This little sketch of Mr. Morris' is already world-famous.

An unusual and brilliant dance act on the Keith program is The DeMarcos. These marvelous dancers, having recently returned from an exceptionally successful tour of Europe, will present a series of modernistic dances, highly original and abounding in unusual and striking color effects. The DeMarcos have been stars in many musical shows, and are well known to New England audiences.

The feature de luxe photoplay is "Tenth Avenue" starring Phyllis Haver, and including in her supporting cast Victor Varconi and Joseph Schildkraut. This is a William C. DeMille production, released by Pathe.

"Tenth Avenue" is a powerful picture story of underworld life in a large city. Fresh from the role of "Katie Hart" in "Chicago", Phyllis Haver brings to this new photoplay the most brilliant characterization of her career.

Pathe News, "The World Before Your Eyes"; an organ specialty with Earl Weidman at the organ console, and short subjects, complete the week's program at the new house.

REPERTORY THEATRE

To all the students who saw the magnificent production and performance of "Macbeth" at the Repertory Theatre, the production of "The Tempest" is a new introduction. Fifteen thousand pupils saw this famous presentation of "Macbeth", and it was acclaimed by the press of Boston, not only in the reviews, but in special editorials appearing in The Boston Post, Herald and Transcript. Dr. Payson Smith, Commissioner of Education for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, endorses these productions as being of the highest quality.

This year the Repertory Theatre is producing "The Tempest", a comedy that is almost a Shakespearean novelty so seldom has it been acted here. "The Tempest" is one of the more difficult of Shakespearean plays to stage, and it has been given special consideration at this Theatre as to settings, lighting and costumes. Mr. Henry Jewett, Director of the Theatre, is unusually fitted for the producing of Shakespeare's works. In a brilliant repertory of Shakespearean plays in 1915 at The Boston Opera House, he gave a season of "As You Like It", "Romeo and Juliet", "Julius Caesar", "Merry Wives of Windsor", "The Merchant of Venice", "The Taming of the Shrew", "A Midsummer Night's Dream" and "Twelfth Night", and from time to time other revivals have been made under the same management. Since the building of The Repertory Theatre, there has been revived "A Midsummer Night's Dream" and "As You Like It" and "Macbeth" and "Much Ado About Nothing" have been given productions. The last two Mr. Jewett played Macbeth and Benedict. The Shakespearean artists he has been associated with in Australia and America are George Rignold, Julia Marlowe, Viola Allen, Ada Rehan and Richard Mansfield, and he has played forty-nine roles in seventeen Shakespearean plays.

"The Tempest" is a tale of exquisite comedy life in a fairy somewhere on the waves of an unknown ocean, and will be produced with that same brilliancy that won for "Macbeth", as given by the theatre, the worldwide acclaim. The production of this play promises to be another high light in the presentation of Shakespearean masterpieces.

Because of the great advance interest being shown, in this Shakespearean production, the management urges those who wish to attend to make early reservations, and it will be pleased to make group arrangements for patrons. Communications may be addressed to the Box Office, phone B. B. 7000, or to the Publicity Department.

EMPIRE THEATRE

Norma Talmadge plays the most daring role of her career in "The Woman Disputed", an adaptation of the sensational stage success of the same title, which is coming to the Empire Theatre, on Sunday.

The United Artists picture was directed by Henry King, veteran megaphone chief whose string of successes include Lillian Gish's "The White Sister," Richard Barthelmess's "Tolable David" and the all-star feature "Stella Dallas."

Miss Talmadge's second vehicle for United Artists has its locale on the Austrian-Russian border before and during the World War. The earlier scenes reveal the star as a flashily garbed girl whose beauty makes her a conspicuous figure in the night-life of an Austrian city. She is loved by two men, former friends, whom the war makes enemies as well as rivals.

The supporting cast of "The Woman Disputed" is headed by Gilbert Roland, the leading man who won his first big success with Miss Talmadge in "Camille" and later again scored heavily opposite her in "The Dove." Roland plays a dashing Austrian army officer.

Other well known actors in the cast are Arnold Kent, Gustav Von Seyffertitz, Michael Vacitich, Boris de Fes and Gladys Brockhill. De Fes' work in "The Tempest," the new John Barrymore picture, won him an important role in "The Woman Disputed." He is a European brought to America by Barrymore.

Hold Fair for Benefit of Platform Fund

A very successful fair was held by the church school of the Free church on Friday afternoon and evening in the parish house. The room was attractively decorated, under the direction of Stanley V. Lane, and each booth was separated from its neighbor with lattice-work where colorful flowers and leaves were intertwined. Lundgren's orchestra furnished music during the evening.

The various tables were under the direction of the following:

Popcorn and Novelty Candies—Mrs. Marion Wilkinson's class and Mrs. David May and Mrs. Sidney Batchelder.
Candy—Mrs. T. H. Lane, Mrs. Dana Clark, Miss Iva Petrie.
Fancy Articles—The A. G. C. class; Mrs. A. C. Church, Doris Manning, Annie Jamieson, Jessie Dobbie, Emma Stevens, Margaret Buchanan, Mae Valentine.
Cake—Primary department; Mrs. Elizabeth Perry, Mrs. Elizabeth Perry, Mrs. Stanley Lane, Marjorie Low.
Baked Goods and Preserves—Mrs. Alexander Sheriff and Miss Alice Wear.
Vegetables—George A. Carter, Miss Anna-bell Richardson.

Postoffice—Margaret Slattery Class; Misses Bessie Coutts, Winnifred Roy, Grace Lake. The tea table was in charge of Mrs. Roy Bradford's class; Mrs. Frank A. Buttrick, Mary Winkley, Mary Rennie, Phyllis Stickney, Catherine Jamieson, Ida Yates, Mary Marr, Helen Nelson, Hetty Farms, Ruth Fairweather and Marion Coutts, and a delicious tea was served late in the afternoon with the following menu: sandwiches, cup cakes, tea, salted nuts, and candy.
Christmas cards and seals, Miss Bertha Cutbill, Ruby Laurie, Charlotte Auchterlonie, Margaret Neil, Margaret Nicoll, Ethel Sorrie, Betty Deymond, Helen Ferrier.

The proceeds of the fair will be used for the platform fund.

THE ANDOVER TOWNSMAN

Looking Back Twenty-five Years

Rev. Frederic Palmer has returned from Pittsburgh where he has been attending a church conference.

Mrs. James N. Smart has closed her Ashwood cottage at 279 Main street and will spend the winter in Cambridge.

Smith & Dove have had a whistle installed at their factory in Abbott Village which will be blown on commencement of work.

Miss Ellen J. Abbott returned Saturday from Griffin, Ga., where she has been making a five-weeks' visit with her sister Mrs. William Marland.

Miss Elsie Holt has entered the employ of T. A. Holt & Company as assistant bookkeeper to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. George Carter.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Brewster left town Wednesday for Virginia where they have gone for the benefit of the former's health.

Edwin T. Brewster will accompany his parents as far as Old Point Comfort, Va., where they will spend a few days this week with relatives and friends in town.

John W. Tarbox, who for many years has been a resident of this town has removed to Worcester where he is employed.

William Hardy played a strong game at halfback with his class '06, against '07, Massachusetts Institute of Technology in the annual class games last Saturday. His team won the contest.

Mrs. Georgiana Dole has been visiting her niece, Mrs. V. L. Parker of Greenville, N.H.

Many friends of the Free church will be pleased to know that the amount of money realized at their recent fair will almost reach $2000.

An interesting piece of work on exhibition at the Free church fair was a quilt made by the Young Women's club. It was made of white linen with the names of 544 persons embroidered upon it in blue. The centre square contained a blue print of the church. As each name brought the workers ten cents, it can readily be seen that a generous sum was realized upon it.

A pleasant meeting was held yesterday afternoon in the Indian Ridge school when the Mothers' club of that school entertained the Andover and Bradlee Mothers' clubs.

Miss Mary Lamont gave a vocal and a piano solo which were much enjoyed and Miss Carrett, gymnastic teacher in the public schools gave a talk on the physical training of the child.

A serious accident befell John Doherty of this town last Friday afternoon at the store of Sullivan & Willard in Lawrence where he is employed as a salesman. Mr. Doherty was on the second floor of the building pulling up some goods through a scuttle with block and tackle, when the pulley ring gave way, allowing the load to drop through the hole to the first floor again. He pitched forward, falling through the scuttle. Later, he was removed to his home on Harding street, where it was discovered that although no bones were broken, he received a severe shaking up.

At the regular meeting of the directors of the Andover Guild, A. L. Ripley of the house committee announced that a new piano had been bought for the home. The directors voted to request the Board of Health to hereafter disinfect all houses in which there have been fatal or serious cases of the disease and for its proper treatment.

Burton S. Flagg reported for the boys' committee that it was recommended that a class be formed for boys between ten and twelve years of age in sloyd and gymnastics.

For older persons a series of compositions was proposed, with prizes for the winners. The committee on girls' work announced that the sewing school would open next Saturday, that the Girls' club was in running order meeting four evenings each week with Miss Hinchecliff as matron in attendance.

Miss Mary Alice Abbott is president. A very unique gathering was held in the South church vestry in the shape of a "Millitary Social." In the various parts of the room "forts" were situated in charge of a member of the G. A. R. and his wife. As each person came into the room he was given a piece of paper and a pencil and stationed at a fort. When the full quota was reached everyone canvassed the room for autographs with the result that the fort in charge of J. Warren Berry won the prize, a cake, with over 1200 names. During the evening a double quartet rendered several war songs. Refreshments were served.

At the annual business meeting of the King's Daughters, officers were elected as follows: Leader, Mrs. T. F. Pratt; recording secretary, Miss Alice F. Abbott; corresponding secretary, Miss Maude E. Randall; treasurer, Miss Mabel L. Jones; auditor, Miss Sara Poor.

Dr. H. L. Clarke has leased the residence of George W. Chandler on the hill and will remodel it for a sanatorium. Dr. Clarke will also keep his office recently opened in Draper's block.

West Parish

Rufus O. Carter, who spent three weeks gunning in the Maine woods has returned to his home after a very enjoyable trip.

Edward F. Abbott and Frank Phelps are serving on the jury in Boston this week.

Last Saturday, about fifty friends of Almon Robinson surprised him at his home on River road. They presented him with half a dozen dining room chairs and a rocking chair.

Ballardvale

Dr. C. H. Shattuck will enter upon his new duties as postmaster next Monday morning.

At the annual meeting of the Congregational Ladies' Aid society the following persons were elected officers for the coming year: President, Mrs. Walter B. Pearson; vice president, Mrs. Charles Greene; secretary, Miss Anna Davies; treasurer, Mrs. J. H. Smith; auditor, Mrs. William Shaw; chairman of plain work committee, Mrs. Henry J. Gardner; fancy work, Mrs. A. J. Russell; home missionary, Miss Nellie Holmes; charitable, Mrs. John S. Dearborn.

Stowe School to End Football Season

The Stowe Junior high football team will close its season on Saturday afternoon when they will play against the Mitchell academy varsity team at Billerica. Thus far the Stowe eleven has won three games and tied one and expects to take the Mitchell Military team into camp.

In former years the Junior high team played the Military Junior team but this year the authorities have asked the Stowe eleven to play the varsity in view of the fact that no Junior team is available at that school.

Coach James N. Cat of the Andover eleven is confident that his charges will be able to give the heavier Military opponents a battle and expects them to come out on top again.

North Station Forces to Be in Uniform

It will be "Blue Cap" instead of "Red Cap" at the New North Station. The "Red Cap," for years the symbol of the porter in the railroad terminals of the United States, Canada, South America and Europe, is to be supplanted by bright blue caps, trimmed with buff, as the uniform identification of the attendants at the Boston and Maine Railroad's new Boston terminal, it was announced today. Suits of light blue similarly will emphasize the blue and buff color of the "Line of the Minute Man."

The caps will depart from the straight visored, straight sided head gear that has been standard among porters for years with a semi-formal military shape, more comfortable for the porter. It will be more easily identified through a band of light buff leather.

The porter will be called "Attendant," this name appearing on the cap in silver letters.

All the forces at the New North Station will be in uniform hereafter, it is announced by General Passenger Agent W. O. Wright, who fathers the "Blue Cap" idea. Ticket sellers and information clerks, and travel bureau staff will wear blue serge coats with "B & M R R" on the lapels and parcel room attendants will wear dark grey blouses. White collars, black ties and black shoes will be worn by all.

A. V. I. S. MEETING

Secretary of Massachusetts Civic League Gives Illustrated Lecture on the Billboard Menace

Reports of the year's work, election of officers and a talk on "Zoning Our Highways" by Mrs. Winona Osborne Pinkham, secretary of the Massachusetts Civic League, made up the program for the annual meeting of the Andover Village Improvement Society held Tuesday evening in Pumphrey hall with Frank L. Bingham presiding.

The reports of the clerk, both for last year's annual meeting and the work of the directors during the year, were read by Mrs. Frank T. Carlton. The most conspicuous accomplishments during the past twelve months have been the placing of the wrought-iron fence in front of Memorial hall at a cost of $571.90, an important contribution to the improvements made in connection with one of Andover's most conspicuous public buildings and the grading of the plot at West Parish center. The usual care has been given to the plots at the intersection of streets in various parts of the town.

The treasurer's report read by Thaxter Eaton showed an available balance on hand of $353.76. A vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Eaton, the retiring treasurer, for his faithful and efficient services.

Directors for the ensuing year were elected and at the close of the meeting organized as follows: President, John C. Angus; first vice president, Nathan C. Hamlin; second vice president, Miss Emma J. Lincoln; third vice president, Mrs. Charles E. Abbott; Mrs. Frank T. Carlton, clerk; Frank L. Bingham, Mrs. Joseph L. Burns, Frederic N. Chandler, Perley F. Gilbert, J. H. Campton, Mrs. Arthur Boutwell, Miss Mattie Robinson, C. M. R. Holmes, Henry A. Bodwell and Chester W. Holland. The two latter succeed Thaxter Eaton and Ernest T. Hethrington, resigned. No treasurer was chosen.

The members of the nominating committee were Mrs. G. M. R. Holmes, Miss Mattie Robinson and Perley F. Gilbert.

The problem of zoning our highways so as to protect the interests of the public at large in the scenic beauties of Massachusetts, an asset belonging not solely to the person who actually lives or owns property on the highway, was effectively presented by Mrs. Pinkham. A well organized effort to control the billboard nuisance will culminate in the introduction before the legislature of a bill for zoning our highways which will give the State authority where towns have not already assumed this responsibility.

Mrs. Pinkham spoke first of the work undertaken and accomplished in the last thirty years by the Massachusetts Civic League in connection with public playgrounds, the housing problem, billboards, nurses for the public schools, eye and ear examinations, care of the mentally deficient, juvenile delinquents, wages for prisoners and other measures connected with the public welfare.

The aesthetic improvement of Massachusetts highways, now disfigured by billboards and hot-dog stands, was the subject given prominence in the lecture which was profusely illustrated with lantern slides. The speaker referred to the present condition as a "metropolitan invasion" of the country highways, "a slum of prosperity, an automobile slum." In the words of Walter Prichard Eaton, "We have sold our birthright for a mess of frankfurters." Many of the pictures were of the Mohawk Trail, some were of the scenic beauties of the State in competition for the prizes offered by Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, and a few were of natural scenes unspoiled by advertising. Mrs. Pinkham described at some length the controversy about the Chevrolet sign on Beacon hill. The contest for its removal has already been going on for three years; the sum of $10,000 has been spent by those who seek its removal, and $10,000 more will be required when the matter is brought before the Supreme Court of the United States.

In closing Mrs. Pinkham asked for the support of the members of the Andover Village Improvement Society when the proposed bill for the zoning of the highways comes up before the Massachusetts legislature in January.

Annual Report of the Clerk

Again Old Mother Earth has made her trip around the sun and The Andover Village Improvement Society is ready to report their work of the year.

A visit to The Ledges, at the junction of Main street and Hidden road; to The Hill Plot between Main street and Highland road; to Upland Green, where Upland road joins Summer street; to The Green and plot in Shawheen at the junction of Union and Main streets; to The Manse Green where School street crosses Central; to The Boulders opposite the Boston and Maine railroad station will show what the Society has done in the past and is continuing to do with the little plots of land where street meets street.

We have one new plot to show you. Go to West Parish center and look at the triangular section at the junction of Lowell street and Shawheen road, where there are several good trees, but until lately unkept ground. Through the generosity of Judge Chandler, one of our trustees, we have been able to have that plot leveled, graded, seeded and the edges sodded, so that it is in keeping with its surroundings.

Visit Indian Ridge and you will find many wee pines, promises of the future.

THE HAPPY FAMILY

"They do have such good times together!" Little Mrs. Turner's eyes followed wistfully the disappearing figures of the MacDougalls, her neighbors across the way. Lunch-and-camera-and-sweater-laden, with the dog bounding joyously before them, they were off—father, mother, and the three young MacDougalls—for a Saturday tramp in the woods.

"I was asking Mrs. MacDougall only yesterday," little Mrs. Turner went on, "how it is that although they all have special friends and hobbies of their own, they still manage to work and play and plan together so many good times. And do you know what Mrs. MacDougall answered? She laughed and said, 'Well I really think more than anything it's The Youth's Companion! In fact, I'm so sure of it that I should like to order it for a year as a present from our family to yours. Six months from now you can tell me if I was't right.'"

The MacDougalls are just one of thousands of households where The Youth's Companion is bringing not only entertainment in its fine book-length novels, serials, and short stories, but fresh interests, new ambitions, and deeper understandings through its feature articles and many special departments. Every page offers happiness to young and old alike.

Don't let your family be without the treat of this great monthly magazine! Just send your subscription order to the address below and you will receive:

1. The Youth's Companion, 12 big monthly numbers, and
2. Two extra numbers to new subscribers ordering within 30 days, and
3. A copy of "WE" in 12 colors, framing size 18 x 24 inches. All for only $2.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION
S.N. Dept., Boston, Mass.

Sixteen hundred seedlings have been set out this past season; half of them white pine, half of them red pine.

This year we have had available for the first time the interest on the bequest of $1000 given by the late Alfred V. Lincoln in memory of his mother, Mrs. Emeline S. Lincoln, the interest to be paid to The Andover Village Improvement Society. If at any time, this society should cease to exist, the income may be used by the town for similar purposes.

The Society is grateful for this thoughtful gift. Larger income means larger service, and larger service means larger joy. And one of our joys was the having in hand sufficient funds to allow the placing of a wrought-iron fence in front of the Library, thereby bringing that unit nearer completion.

We feel there is work to be done throughout the town, in tree planting. Having in mind the beauty of tree-shaded streets and knowing that additional trees planted on some of our narrow streets would increase the hazards for motorists, our Tree Committee suggests that property owners plant trees on their own land near enough to the sidewalk to provide shade for pedestrians. Each thing of beauty that we plant and prime and tend adds to the pleasure of the many; the tree, the lawn, the garden, each has its place.

LITTLE GARDENS

He has not lived in vain whose taste of ground In summer time one touch of beauty shows, Who, loving blossoms, labors for a rose And builds a bed and winds a path around. Not in success alone man's worth is found. Nor in the tasks by which his fortune grows. But in those things wherein his spirit glows The simpler joys by which his life is crowned.

Who loves a garden, keeps it for itself, And sets himself the tasks which it requires, He seeks no great reward of fame or pelf. 'Tis love of beauty which his soul inspires. The little gardens humble people make Proclaim the souls who toil for beauty's sake.

Bishop Slattery Confirms Class of Twenty-nine at Christ Church

Bishop Charles Lewis Slattery of the diocese of Massachusetts confirmed a class of twenty-nine at Christ church Sunday morning at the 10.45 service. There were sixteen women and girls and thirteen men and boys.

After the laying on of hands the bishop admonished the new members of the church to obey the teachings of Christ, reading from some part of the four gospels every day; to be loyal to Christ's teachings and to obey and be loyal through love of the Master.

Bishop Slattery preached the sermon to the large congregation which had assembled. He took as his text Proverbs 29, 18—"Where there is no vision the people perish." He told of the close of the Civil War where two great generals, Grant and Lee, stopped the fighting by the surrender at Appomattox court house; of the close of the Spanish war, when the United States paid Spain for the possessions she had won by conquest, and set Cuba up as an independent country, and of the end of the World War and the great celebration at the signing of the Armistice. He said the vision of greater things was in the minds of the people at all these times.

He spoke of three ways in which people of today could carry on the vision, and make the country more and more a great factor in the peace of the nations; by sending the best men and women into public life; by having the younger generation turn more toward the teaching profession, bringing knowledge to the children and by going into the ministry, teaching the gospel to all nations.

The special anthem for the morning was "Hark, Hark My Soul," sung by the vested choir, with a solo by Charles Valentine.

Pass First-Class Tests

Five Boy Scouts successfully passed the first class tests at the court of honor held last week at Pumphrey high school. The boys who passed were: Robert Meadowcroft and Robert Low of Troop 2, Free church; Kenneth Wallace Troop 5 of Christ church; John Griffin of Troop 6 and Walter Milne of Troop 7, both of St. Augustine's church.

The court of honor was in charge of Assistant Deputy Commissioners Wendell H. Kydd and Joseph A. McCarthy.

Armistice Day

Sunday was Armistice Day. In last week's issue the Townsman refrained from pointing out the significance of this day. Wiser heads than ours have hesitated to do so. Perhaps no one knows why the last war was fought. Perhaps no one can be sure of the lessons which that war has for the world.

But last Sunday evening a speaker, himself a soldier, spoke to an Andover audience, who pretended to know all about it. The gist of his argument was a plea for intolerance and for preparedness, most of his time being given to hammering home the need of preparedness. Here, he said, was the great lesson from the war.

Many people are ready to agree with him but we know that some in that audience had their honest doubts about the orator's grasp of an elusive truth.

What was said about intolerance can be disposed of in a few words. When Lieutenant Mullen was urging on his men in Flanders ten years or more ago, he didn't care whether his men in khaki were white or black, Catholics, Protestants or Jews, believers in atheism, socialism or any other "ism". A decade ago he was satisfied that his men should fight, but today he draws fine distinctions. There is no room in this country, he shouts, for people of beliefs of which he disapproves. Some of the men who were good enough to die for their country in war time, he would kick out of this country in peace time. That, he insists, is a lesson to learn from the Great Sacrifice. We wonder what those who lie dead in France as a result of that struggle think of such claptrap? Voltaire had a rather greater mind than our orator, and the French wit once said although he despised with all his mind what a person had said, he would defend with his life that person's right to say it.

But the main thing to be emphasized, according to last Sunday night's speaker, is preparedness. For unless we prepare, our dead will have died in vain. Prepare for what? Certainly not peace; war then. Very well, let's prepare for war, and see what happens. Let us double our navy, treble it, quadruple it. Would this satisfy the militarists? Let's suppose so, but if not, make it ten times more powerful. If the other nations of the world did not increase their armaments in proportion, it would be a very simple matter to brow-beat any objectionable neighbor into submission. But the fact of the matter is that we could not beat anyone at the game of preparedness. All nations would follow our example and a mad race for increase in fighting power would be on. If the lesson of the war is to prepare why doesn't it apply to England, France, to Germany after 1935, and all other nations?

Then what would happen? A spark in an isolated part of the world perhaps, and the fun would begin. All the most modern playthings would be given a chance to show their tricks: new warships, planes, gasses . . . In his speech, Lieutenant Mullen said that some ten millions were killed and twenty millions wounded in the last little party. But in the words of Al Jolson, "You ain't heard nothing yet." Just give us a chance to prepare more thoroughly and you will see what a really up-to-date war can do. If the promises of the militarists can be relied upon there certainly will be some thrilling spectacle. All we need is more adequate preparation. A paltry ten million dead? You ain't heard nothing yet! The next will be the biggest and best and most glorious party ever dreamed of; the last war will look like a pink tea in comparison.

No nation or group of nations has ever been able to exist for long. The white races, which have the upper hand today, like to boast of being "civilized." And yet they will deliberately set about to plan their own extermination, calling that the great lesson to be learned from the World War. Never was the world as well prepared for war as in 1914; never before was such a disastrous conflict staged. There is a direct cause and effect relationship here.

War isn't what it used to be. In the good old days the savage who cracked his neighbor's skull and ran off with his wife profited by the struggle—maybe. In the same way, the robber baron who at the loss of a few hirelings stole the other fellow's lands and castle, also gained. Today, however, victory is an empty phrase. Defeated Germany is better off today than victorious France. Wars are no longer won. Every participant reaps irreparable disaster. Is it for this, that the nations of the "civilized" world are to prepare? Is this the Great Lesson?

About eleven years ago one of the slogans used by this country was "A war to end war." In war propaganda it is almost impossible for any ordinary mortal to distinguish between truth and the lies given out to make one man hate another man unknown to him, so that he is itching to run a bayonet through the other fellow's stomach. But let us suppose that the above slogan represented and still represents an ideal of all normal people: a desire for peace between nations.

How then is this goal to be obtained, by a renewed and intensified universal race for more battleships? That has never worked and holds out less hope now than ever. Let us suppose that instead of using the stock, rubberstamp bull-headed jingoism of the past, we thought things over in an attempt to avoid repeating again the stupid blunders of history, realizing that this is an uncommon and unconventional procedure. What then?

One might not illogically conclude that one way to help avoid war, or at least some of its horrors, is for all nations to cut down the engines of human slaughter to the barest minimum. No such thing will come about by hocus pocus; only a universal public opinion can demand it. Pasteur was jeered at for trying to cure disease in a new but rational way; the old but foolish formulas were good enough for most people until they were educated differently. Human nature with all its shortcomings is capable of improvement if we were to give it half a chance.

There are various agencies in all civilized countries to effect this transformed attitude but they generally lack the courage to do anything about it. Our statesmen find it more convenient to follow rather than lead public opinion, and the same may be said of the press. If public school teachers dared talk in this way, whether in this country or any other that took part in the last massacre, they would be promptly fired. The Christian Church could lead, and in a few instances is leading in this respect. Harry Emerson Fosdick being one example. It is probably our greatest hope but its record is against it, not only having a few first-class crimes of its own to its credit, but it has always given its blessing to both sides of every war. If its various branches should stop quarreling among themselves and carry on their professed gospel of brotherhood instead of spinelessly putting their "OK" on every conflict, fewer men today would be telling the world that the lesson from the last war is to get down to the business of preparing for the next. Whatever the agencies, a war should and can be waged everywhere, and in a limited way is now being waged against the idea of war. The public must be given a chance to see that organized slaughter is not the right way out of any international problem.

There is probably a limit to what our civilization will stand against destructive forces which are constantly and deliberately being improved to destroy it. We are nourishing the cancer which promises to consume us. If through muddled thinking the white race wrecks itself, perhaps in the distant future a new civilization will rise in which man will have learned to profit somewhat from the experience of the past. That will be a great day in human history.

There are wars which we must have for our self-preservation: why not devote a small part of the money and energy now wasted on battleships and guns, to a fight against ignorance, disease, superstition, poverty, famine, intolerance? It might possibly fool those whose cry is "It can't be done."

Perhaps ten million soldiers would then cease turning over in their graves.

Good-Book Week Observed at Memorial Hall Library

Good-Book Week began with much enthusiasm last Saturday when seventy-five boys and girls went to the Junior Room of the Memorial Hall Library to hear stories. The story hour will continue every Saturday morning during the winter at 10.30 for the pupils of the fourth and fifth grades.

Much interest has been shown in the sixteen posters which have been on display in the Junior Room. These posters were made by the following pupils of the Junior High School: Harry Francis, Lillian Noel, Frances McTernan, Blanche Gilman, Russell Richardson, Richard Stott, Dorothy Lewis, Josephine Pittman, Alice Nicholas, Barbara Lee, Harold Kitchin, Robert MacLaren, Everdeck Thiras, Edith Rohrer, Jennie Shamelski, Douglas Mailey.

On Saturday, November 17, there will be a box in the Junior Room in which those who have guessed the names of the books represented on the guessing poster may put their answers.

Additional Canvassers for Red Cross Roll Call

Mrs. Harry Noyes is taking Mrs. Wm. D. Walker's place, canvassing for the Red Cross on Main street, and Mrs. Fred Tapley has Pearson, Lewis and Buxton court. Miss Abbot may be reached by telephones 439-M and 554.

Annual Tea at Christ Church Rectory

The annual tea given by the Rev. and Mrs. C. W. Henry for those pupils and teachers of Abbot Academy who attend Christ Church, was held in the rectory on Wednesday afternoon, about one hundred being present.

On account of the illness of Mrs. Henry, Mrs. Irving Southworth and Mrs. Gerard Chapin received. The tea table presided over by Mrs. Harry H. Wheeler and Mrs. Lawrence Allen looked most attractive in the candle light with its decorations of autumn fruits and flowers.

The Misses Rosamond Wheeler, Vivian Southworth and Joyce Henry assisted.

Christ Church Notes

Mr. Lincoln of Boston entertained and instructed the Boy Rangers on Wednesday night in an attractive way. The next entertainment night will come just before Christmas when there will be "movies".

Teachers from the Church School will attend the West Merrimack Branch meeting in Lowell on Saturday, the hours being from 3-6 p.m.

The Thanksgiving sale, with special features this year, is set for Tuesday, November 27th. The Woman's Guild is busily at work preparing for this annual event. Members of the Junior Woman's Guild will serve tea on the afternoon of the 27th.

Buy It Here

On Tuesday, November 27th, from two until five-thirty the Woman's Guild of Christ Church will hold their annual Thanksgiving Sale.

There are many fine home-made cakes, pies and the famous Guild mince meat, and many Christmas gifts. From the flower table one may buy Chinese lanterns, silver shillings and other winter decorations, as well as plants and cut flowers.

All kinds of handkerchiefs will be on sale, for as the little rhyme tells us "To be with out a handkerchief you know is quite distressing, for every friend let one be sent, and it will prove a blessing." Some of them, all ready for gifts, will be made into attractive Colonial bouquets.

Delicious afternoon tea will be served during the afternoon. This will be a splendid opportunity for the housewife to purchase many Thanksgiving delicacies and of course the family will feel much more thankful after being satisfactorily fed.

In the evening there will be an unusual entertainment which will truly entertain. A play "Suppressed Desires" will be given, at which Miss Anne Swenson, Miss Doris Hilton and Sumner Davis will take part. Three Mystery plays will be presented by Donald Dumont and Minnie Valentine. Mrs. Addison B. LeBoutillier has charge of the entertainment.

Miss Mank to Speak at Meeting of Natural History Society

Miss Helen Mank of Lawrence will be the speaker at the next meeting of the Andover Natural History society to be held at the Punched building next Tuesday evening, November 20, at eight o'clock.

Her subject will be "High Spots in a Summer Vacation". Each member is invited to take a guest to hear this interesting speaker.

Obsequies

FRANK TUPPER

The funeral of the late Frank Tupper who passed away at the Lawrence General hospital Sunday morning was held from the Free church Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock. The services were conducted by Rev. Alfred Church.

Interment was in the family lot in Spring Grove cemetery.

To Hold Whist for Thanksgiving Cheer

The ways and means committee of the Fraternal Building association will hold a Thanksgiving cheer whist party on Tuesday evening, November 27, at eight o'clock in the Fraternal hall. Some of the prizes are a turkey, chickens, bag flour, sugar, large sultana cake and lots of others. The public is cordially invited. Tickets may be obtained from any of the following committee: Thomas Neil, chairman; George Petrie, secretary; Thomas Thill, William A. R. Gordon, John Auchterlonie, George Craig, James Skea, Alexander Valentine, John McGrath, Mrs. Alexandra Guthrie, Mrs. George Petrie, Mrs. Archibald Davidson, Mrs. George Nichol, Mrs. Thomas Neil, Mrs. Thomas Lowe, Mrs. Jean Wood, Mrs. Jean Sorrie, Miss Elizabeth Valentine and Mary Holden.

The next meeting of the fair committee will be held Monday evening, Nov. 19, at 8 o'clock in Fraternal hall.

Andover Woman Speaks at Meeting of Lawrence Garden Club

The members of the Lawrence Garden Club held their regular meeting Tuesday afternoon in Kneupper and Dinmuck hall. Mrs. William Trow of Shawheen was the speaker and had as her subject "Garden Gossip". Mrs. Trow spoke very informally and gave suggestions about the care of plants. She recently enjoyed a trip through Arnold Arboretum and described the beauty of the place at this time of year. Twice every year the members of the state's garden clubs are allowed to drive through the Arboretum.

Legion Post Officers Installed By Former Local Resident

The annual installation of officers was held Tuesday evening at the meeting of Andover Post 8, American Legion held in the Legion hall. Past Commander of Beverly Post Frank L. Smith, a former Andover boy and son of Chief of Police Frank M. Smith was the installing officer. He was assisted by the present commander of Beverly post, Carol Merrow as sergeant-at-arms.

The following officers were installed: Commander, Percy J. Dole; vice commander, Arthur L. Coleman; adjutant, Joseph A. McCarthy; finance officer, Arthur Jowett; sergeant-at-arms, Herman J. Hilton; chaplain, Fred E. Cheever; service officer, Frank P. Markey; and executive committee, George S. MacKenzie, Frederick R. Hulme and Frank C. Hughes.

Among the guests of the evening who spoke were: Commander Henry Clukey of General William F. Bartlett post, 99, G. A. R., president of the Henry Long of the American Legion auxiliary; Commander Charles G. Kibbee, of Walter L. Raymond camp, 111, Sons of Veterans; Past President, Mrs. Harry Peatman of the Ladies' auxiliary to Walter L. Raymond camp, 111, Sons of Veterans, and Vice Commander Hartley Calvert of the Essex County Council of the American Legion.

A supper was served after the meeting by the members of the auxiliary. The committee: President, Mrs. Henry Long; chairman, Mrs. Harry Gouck; Mrs. George Brown, and Mrs. Minnie Rodger.

Tuesday Club Holds Reception

One of the anticipated events of the November social season is the annual tea given by the members of the Tuesday club to their friends, and which took place November 13 at the home of Mrs. Burchard Horne on Bartlett street.

Guests were received by Mrs. G. Edgar Folk, president of the club, assisted by Mrs. Lewis Hovey of Bradford, district director of the Massachusetts Federation of Women's clubs, and Mrs. Burchard Horne.

Those who poured were Mrs. Chester D. Abbott, Mrs. Stanley V. Lee, Mrs. Wilfred Lord, and Mrs. George H. Gerrish. Decorations in the dining room were fruits of the harvest artistically arranged by Miss Florence Parker and Mrs. Anna Paddock. Chrysanthemums were used in the other rooms of the house.

The ushers were Mrs. John T. Lord and Mrs. Virgil Harrington.

Annual Roll Call Meeting at the Andover Baptist Church

On Wednesday evening, November 14, the annual roll call supper of the Andover Baptist church was held in the vestry with about one hundred members of the church and congregation present. The supper, served by the Philathea class of the church, Mrs. Clinton Stevens, chairman, was a great success with bountiful provision for all.

The pastor's remarks on the opening of the meeting were apt and pleasing, the fellowship of the Christian family making it a happy occasion.

Dr. Fowler of the Calvary Baptist Church of Lawrence was the speaker of the evening and he was received with a warm round of applause. His subject was "The Greatest Motive of Christian Service." He said that we have a motive for everything and the motive must determine our estimation of the act, the book, the life. Motives greatly animate the lives of men and women, so he spoke about those that should animate Christians, among which he gave for the beautiful and beautiful things about us, influence our lives. Friendship is a truly wonderful thing and we are apt to become like our friends. The love of home is a more wonderful influence and spurs us to make all kinds of sacrifices as does also patriotism which takes a marvelous hold on us and brings out the finest qualities of mankind. However none of these are strong enough to be the greatest motive which is summed up in the words "The love of God constraineth us."

Prayer was offered by Rev. C. Norman Bartlett after which the roll call was held. Each person responded with a free-will offering which amounted to $116. This will be added to the fund for installing the heating plant.

Examples of Soap Sculpture to be Exhibited at John-Esther Gallery

From November 20 to December 4, Abbot Academy is to have an exhibition of one hundred pieces of soap sculpture on view in the John-Esther Art Gallery. This exhibit, the result of competitions held by the National Soap Sculpture Committee is at present at the Lucius Beebe Memorial Library in Wakefield, and will come to Andover on November 20. The Precker and Gamble Company, makers of Ivory Soap, pay all expenses of the exhibit. Artists and sculptors all over the country praise the movement of soap sculpture as an economical and pleasant way of experimenting. After the last exhibit at Abbot, many students tried their hands, in some cases with distinguished success, at carving cakes of Ivory soap.

Students from the Andover schools are welcome to attend this exhibition on the Saturday afternoons which are open, as usual, to the public.

Armistice Season Observed in Schools

Rev. G. Edgar Folk spoke on his experiences in the late war before the students of the Stowe Junior high school last Friday morning. The subject of his address was "Making America and the World Safe for Democracy." He told the children that if there is another war they will be the ones who will take the most active part in it and they should do all in their power to prevent such a calamity. In his opinion any man who should propose war is insane.

The program was arranged by the Stowe school dramatic club, one of the school clubs organized this year under the direction of Miss Inez M. Carter. The purpose of this organization is to encourage the children in public speaking. The hall was decorated for the occasion by the young people and the announcements were made by Ada Carlson.

Included in the program were several selections by the school orchestra, recitations of "Armistice Day" by William Perry, "Flanders Field," by Marietta Tower and Ruth Stott, and "No More War" by Haigas Asonian. The program closed with the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner."

Commander George MacKenzie and Arthur L. Coleman of Andover Post 8, American Legion addressed the students of St. Augustus parish school Friday afternoon. They spoke on the financial and human costs of the war and showed the children many relics of the battlefields.

Former Andover Resident Dies in Cambridge Hospital

Mrs. Sarah Dennison, widow of the late James E. Dennison, formerly of the firm of Dennison, Barker & Bicknell of Lawrence, died at the Cambridge hospital Saturday as the result of being struck and being run over by an elevated car in Belmont Sunday, November 4. Mrs. Dennison, who was formerly a resident of Andover for many years had been visiting a sister in Belmont and was returning to her home in Arlington.

Eye witnesses of the accident claim that Mrs. Dennison was blinded by the rain and apparently did not see the oncoming car. She suffered a concussion of the brain, a severe cut on one leg and was unconscious from the time of her admittance to the hospital until her death.

She is survived by a daughter, Miss Alice Dennison and a son, Walter Dennison. Burial took place in St. Augustine's cemetery, Andover, on Tuesday morning.

Department of Public Welfare Offers to Centralize Distribution of Thanksgiving Baskets

The Department of Public Welfare, through Miss Marion Smith, in order to avoid duplication, will act as a channel through which any agency or individual in the Town who is interested in the Thanksgiving distribution of baskets to needy families may work. If anyone desirous of obtaining names of families, or who is planning to give baskets, will cooperate with the Town by communicating with Miss Smith, the work can be centralized. Miss Smith's office hours at the Town House are from 2 to 5 o'clock every day except Saturday.

Alumni Advisory Council to Visit Abbot Academy

From Monday to Wednesday, the members of the Alumnae Advisory Council will visit Abbot Academy. An annual visit is made by this committee, whose members take back to the various parts of the country news of the present-day school. The members for 1928-29 are: Mrs. Albert I. Mackintosh (Marcia Richards), Newton Highlands, Mass., Mrs. Arthur R. Leeds (Clara Hullik), Cleveland, O., Mrs. W. Pevelevs (Marion Winklebleck), Aurora, Ill., Mrs. Richard C. Bartlett (Dorothy Pillsbury), Malden, Mass., Mrs. Herbert L. McClean (Christine Weyer), Dedham, Mass., Mrs. Edwin S. Gage (Julia Wallace), Nashua, N. H., Mrs. Talcott Parsons (Helen Walker), Cambridge, Mass., Miss Jean Swihart, Ridgewood, N. J., and Miss Kathleen Jones, Boston, Mass. It is expected that the exception of Mrs. Leeds, and possibly Mrs. Jones, the ladies of the committee may all be present at some time during the three days. Miss Jean Swihart, president of the class of 1927, is at present studying in Switzerland, and hence cannot be at the school.

Concert of Chamber Music at Abbot

There will be a most interesting concert at Abbot Academy on Tuesday night, November 20th at 8:00 o'clock, given by Kate Friskin, pianist, Marie Nichols, violinist, Jacobus Langendoen, cellist, and Willem Valkenier, horn player. This concert was given by these artists on October 23, in Jordan Hall, Boston. The Andover performance will be the first of the three annual concerts given at Abbot which feature non-resident artists. In this instance, however, Miss Friskin and Miss Nichols will share with Messrs. Langendoen and Valkenier the honors of the occasion.

It is one hundred years since Franz Schubert died (Nov. 19, 1828) and his music is being revived. Such intense revivification is a dangerous thing for the works of any composer, and this is particularly true of Schubert, for he wrote a vast amount of music at white heat while conspicuously lacking in the faculty of critical self-analysis. He dashed off songs at incredible speed, many of which are among the masterpieces of the world, but he chose these indiscriminately, thus frequently associating beautiful music with very mediocre verse. Schubert was too poor to have been able to afford an adequate musical education and his larger works show the result of this misfortune. But he was rendered with a gift of lyricism that has not been surpassed in all time.

A centennial observance has one great benefit; it revives some works of great beauty which have unjustly been allowed to sink into partial or complete oblivion. The revivification of much of Schubert's chamber music will be an excellent thing, for much of it is of lovely quality. The Trio to be played at this concert is an instance in point.

James Friskin's Fantasy is a short work. It is compact, conceived as a whole, not as an agglomeration of details, and creates a mood. It has sincerity and purpose. Mr. Friskin modestly says that the work was written twenty-one years ago and that it has become outmoded. But he has had something to say and the degree of modernity of his speech is of relatively secondary importance. In these days one ceases to be a modern in five years.

Brahms' Horn Trio is unquestionably one of his masterpieces. His music is classic in form and yet romantic in spirit. Emotion is not excluded; it is regulated. As Mason so aptly has said, "Brahms' work is not a diversion to an earlier and simpler type, it is the gathering and fusing together of fragmentary new elements, resulting in a more complex organism."

The program:
Trio in B flat Major Opus 99 ..... Schubert
Piano, violin, violoncello
Allegro moderato
Andante un poco mosso
Scherzo-Allegro-Trio
Rondo-Allegro vivace
Phantasia in E minor ..... James Friskin
Piano, violin, and violoncello
Trio in E flat Major, Opus 40 ..... Brahms
Piano, violin and horn

Admission of one dollar will be taken at the door.

Mothers' Club to Pack Thanksgiving Baskets

Thanksgiving baskets will be packed for the needy according to the annual custom. This work will be in charge of the relief committee, Mrs. Raymond Brickett, Mrs. Edward Cole, Mrs. George Smith and Mrs. Walter Buxton. Anyone wishing to donate articles to help fill these baskets should leave them with Mrs. Walter Buxton or telephone Mrs. Raymond Brickett.

Abbot Academy Notes

Saturday, November 10, was a busy day with members of the school in attendance at the English Hockey and Boston team game, and at college and school football games in the afternoon. In the evening, Dr. Clarence E. Harbourn, president-elect of Brown University spoke at the weekly service in Abbot hall.

Miss Kelsey gave an interesting address on Sunday evening at the service in Commemoration of Armistice Day. She described the work of the Academy students during the period of the war—recalling the military drill, the farm work, and the making of surgical dressings, and the joy felt by all when it was known that the Armistice was signed. The average student of today was only six or seven years old when the war ended, and their share in the experiences of 1917 and 1918 was naturally very small.

Col. H. Edmund Bullis introduced the idea of calendar simplification in a lecture on Monday evening, November 12. This lecture was sponsored by the National Committee on Calendar Simplification, whose president is George Eastman of Rochester, N. Y.

Miss Ruth Stephens Baker's competent direction of an amusing play by Wilhelm, "Einer muss heissen", presented on Tuesday evening, November 13. The girls who took part in the play are second-year German students, and they spoke with unusual facility, while their acting was well done. The program follows:

Personen
Jakob Zorn
Wilhelm Zorn
Gertrude, ihre Tante
Luise, ihre Cousine
Doris Leiser

Once more the students attending Christ Church have enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Henry. They were most appreciative of the tea which was given for them on Wednesday evening, November 14.

A favorite with young people, President J. Edgar Park of Wheaton College will be most welcome when he comes to speak at the service on Sunday evening, November 18.

Abbot Academy is eagerly looking forward to the recital of Miss Kate Kriskin on Tuesday evening, November 20. This is a repetition of Miss Friskin's Boston recital, of which the musical critics wrote with enthusiasm, and it is hoped that neighbors of the Academy will take advantage of the opportunity to hear two such distinguished artists as Miss Friskin and Miss Nichols (who assists her), with the addition of two members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

The cost of admission is one dollar, and the time is eight o'clock. The recital is the first of the Centennial Series.

First quarter Honor Roll for Abbot Academy is as follows:
91 percent—Louise J. Anthony, Garden City, L. I., N. Y.

90 percent—Dorothy Field, Phillips, Me.; Lois Hardy, Wellesley Farms, Elizabeth Osborne, Arlington.

89 percent—Ruth Borden, Marblehead, Frances Sullivan, Nashua, N. H.

88 percent—Katherine Blunt, Andover, Charlotte Buckner, Meriden, Conn.; Lucy Copeland, Hornell, N. Y.; Marjorie Turner, Arlington.

Testimonial to Prospective Groom

Augustine P. Sullivan, past grand knight of Andover council, 1078, Knights of Columbus, was tendered a testimonial banquet at Shawheen Manor Wednesday night in honor of his approaching marriage to Miss Mary Picard. A number of Mr. Sullivan's associates gathered and surprised him with a splendid gift as a token of the high esteem in which he is held by his many friends. The presentation was made by Dr. J. J. Daly, a member of the board of selectmen, who also officiated admirably as toastmaster.

Short addresses were given by John E. Fenton, recently elected to the office of register of deeds; Michael A. Burke, grand knight of Andover council, 1078, Knights of Columbus; Bernard L. McDonald, Joseph A. Mulvey, Frank McBride, Leo F. Daley, and Joseph A. McCarthy.

Those present were: Augustine P. Sullivan, Dr. J. J. Daly, Frank S. McDonald, Bernard L. McDonald, Joseph A. Mulvey, Joseph O'Connell, Dr. William A. Fleming, Joseph A. McCarthy, Frank McBride, John P. S. Doherty, John J. Barrett, Vincent P. Hickey, William A. Harnedy, Leo F. Daley, John E. Fenton and Michael A. Burke.

Organist at Rome to Give Concert at Phillips Academy

Fernando Germani, organist of the Augusteo, Rome, will give a recital at George Washington hall, on Friday evening, December 7.

Tickets are $1.00, seventy-five cents and fifty cents.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

nations are now so closely interwoven. Many persons think that the movement for peace is futile, but a review of recent years shows that no great movement has taken such gigantic strides in so short a time.

Another argument in favor of ratifying the Kellogg pact is that it is the only business since the League of Nations was formed. "The advantage will be psychological rather than legal. It will give public opinion a springboard from which it may launch itself almost any measure for peace in the future. The treaty will be an agreement as to the objectives of mankind but will be valuable only as public opinion mobilizes itself behind it," said Mr. Rich in conclusion.

Mr. Rich has occupied many posts of distinction in Foreign affairs. Beginning life in Hingham, Massachusetts, he prepared for College at Phillips academy at Andover. After spending several years in the Far East as a teacher and journalist, Mr. Rich returned to this country to be Chinese adviser of the Foreign Policy Association. He then came to Boston as Executive Director of the World Peace Foundation. The increased usefulness of the Foundation has been marked and gratifying to all students of International Affairs.

Mr. Rich has recently returned from Europe where he spent some time at Geneva and European Capital cities in touch with the statesmen of the world and the League was indeed fortunate to be able to hear so distinguished an authority on the subject.

Resolutions welcoming the proposals of the treaty and expressing a hope for its world-wide acceptance were adopted by the Andover League of Women Voters as read by Mrs. R. N. C. Barnes. Copies of these resolutions will be sent to the Secretary of the National League of Women Voters and to our Senators in Congress.

Mrs. Robert De Normandie, president of the Massachusetts League of Women Voters answered the question "Why a League of Women Voters?" Political parties, civic departments and organizations to promote some special movement all have their place and in some points duplicate the work of the League, but the special province of the organization which she represents is to study problems before acting, the spreading of information, and the development of a group of people who use their minds as they should among a self-governing people.

Seated with Mrs. Poynter, president of the Andover League, were the speakers, and Mrs. James C. Sawyer, Mrs. George Abbot and Mrs. R. N. C. Barnes. These four Andover women together with Miss Agnes Park comprised the first local group of women to organize for the purpose of taking part in civic affairs.

The stage behind the speaker's table was screened with evergreen, snowberries and oak leaves. The table decorations were by Mrs. W. K. Kuhn. This work was done by Miss Anna W. Kuhn, Mrs. Jerome W. Cross, Mrs. Herbert Russell.

Those who prepared the delicious and abundant luncheon were Mrs. Ralph Hadley, chairman, Mrs. P. W. Partridge, Mrs. Joseph Higginson, Mrs. Joseph Blunt, Mrs. Harvey Turner, Mrs. Wilfred Lord, Mrs. Maude Farlowe, Mrs. Alexander Wadsworth, Mrs. A. B. LeBoutillier and Mrs. Wright Stafford.

The hostesses who assisted in serving were Mrs. H. Gilbert Francke, Mrs. Henry G. Tyler, Mrs. F. W. H. Stott, Mrs. Roscoe Dake, Mrs. John J. Bars, Mrs. Edward J. Sawyer, Mrs. Walter L. Savell, Mrs. E. D. Walen, Mrs. Arthur Bliss, Jr., Mrs. McClain Reinhart, Miss Mary Byers Smith, Mrs. Oswald Tower and Mrs. Alan Blackmer.

The Andover League of Women Voters presented a program of 1928-29 to Andover women and cordially urges any and all to join; dues, annual membership, $1.00 a year, contributing membership $5.00.

Why join the League of Women Voters? Because it is the only national non-partisan organization existing solely for the political education of women, because it develops the intelligence of the individual through forums and discussions; because it urges women to enroll in the political parties and to work through them to improve the machinery of government; because it urges women to interest themselves in their own town.

The officers for the coming year are as follows: President, Mrs. Horace M. Poynter; first vice president, Mrs. H. Gilbert Francke; second vice president, Mrs. Ralph Hadley; recording secretary, Mrs. Peter Cunningham; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Walter Sawyer; treasurer, Miss Margaret Cherkering. Committee Chairmen: Efficiency in Government, Mrs. Carl Plattfeicher; Child Welfare, Miss Amelia Shapleigh; Education, Mrs. H. Gilbert Francke; Living Costs, Mrs. William Trow; Women in Industry, Mrs. Alexander Wadsworth; Legal Status of Women, Mrs. Frank Brigham; Legislation, Mrs. Milton Friese; International Co-operation to Prevent War, Mrs. R. N. C. Barnes.

Program—1928-1929:
Nov. 14—Luncheon at Christ church Parish House "The Multilateral Treaty" Mr. Raymond Rich.
Dec. 11—The Effect on Women in Industry of the passage of a "Two-Shift Bill", Mrs. Louis Rantoul.

Jan. 8—"Some Aspects of World Federation", Miss Harriet Whittier.
Feb. 12—Mrs. Susan Fitzgerald, member of state commission on the Necessaries of Life.

Mar. 12—"A Brief History of Child Labor in the United States", Mrs. LaRue Brown.

Apr. 9—"Adapting the Old Forms of New England Town Government to the Needs of Today", Mr. John F. Sly.

May 14—Annual Meeting.

Gifts from the Orient

Girls' Friendly Notes

Members of the Girls' Friendly society of Christ church were guests of the Girls' Friendly society of St. Paul's church, Newburyport on Sunday afternoon and evening. Ten members made the trip by automobile after which they enjoyed a six-mile hike and a supper served in the parish house.

Those who participated in the Newburyport trip were: Mrs. Walter E. Howe, Gertrude Hilton, Doris Hill, Ethel Hilton, Grace Larkin, Ruth Saunders, Alice Wrigley, Edythe Wright, Helen Smith, Annetta Anderson.

A bridge and whist party will be held in Christ church parish house on Monday evening, November 19. Tickets are now on sale and may be obtained from any member of the following committee: Alexina Harris, chairman; Daisy Stevens, Anne Swenson, Ruth Saunders, Margaret Sparks, Elizabeth Hilton.

Stoneham Club Wins

Nearly 100 members of the Andover Squash and Compass Club and Glee club visited Stoneham Wednesday night and were the guests of the Stoneham Club in a tournament which the hosts won 12 to 9.

The local bowlers hitting candles came through in shape winning three points but the home club were strong in pool and bridge taking 7 of the 8 points for victory. The Glee Club made a big hit and sang "The Winter Song," "Bless the Lord" and "The Jolly Roger." John A. Arnold was accompanist.

There was a notable array of speakers including the high officials of the National League of Masonic Clubs who enlightened the gathering on many things pertaining to masonry and statesmanship. Among the speakers were B. Waldo Hobart, president National League Masonic Clubs, Arthur B. Eaton, secretary-treasurer National League Masonic Clubs, Charles White, president Massachusetts Federation Square and Compass Clubs; Louis E. Heaton, Melrose chief of police and president of Police Square Club; Earl E. Davidson, State president, National League Masonic Clubs; Dudley G. Kimball, Grand Monarch Omar Grotto, I. W. Moore, president, Engineers Blue room; W. C. Smith, past president Transit Club.

Total 12 9

After the tournament and entertainment refreshments were served by the Stoneham club members who proved most genial hosts.

Andover Guild Opens

Registration week has been held at the Andover Guild. Many gymnasium groups have been organized and other classes and clubs will be scheduled as leaders can be secured. Many groups of children and young people are seeking adults to meet with them once a week to direct their activities. These groups have various interests in including two cooking classes, a handwork class, hiking clubs, singing groups, etc.

The gymnasium schedule is as follows: Monday afternoon, Girl Scouts; Monday evening, basketball or special activity night; Tuesday afternoon, Purnard basketball girls followed by junior girls gymnasium class; Tuesday evening, Business and Professional women's club; Wednesday afternoon, junior boys gymnasium class; Wednesday evening, Boy Scouts followed by Colonial club; Thursday afternoon, Purnard basketball girls followed by intermediate girls' gymnasium class; Thursday evening, intermediate boys gymnasium class followed by a class for senior young men; Friday afternoon, gymnasium class for elementary boys; Friday evening, Christ church girls followed by Friday club.

Shower Is Tendered Prospective Bride

Miss Mary Picard was the guest of honor at a pretty miscellaneous shower Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Sullivan, 15 Brin terrace. Miss Picard is to become the bride of Augustine P. Sullivan at a nuptial mass in St. Augustine's church on Monday, November 19th. Mr. Sullivan, who is very well known in Andover, is the popular paymaster in the Smith & Dove mill and is prominent in K. of C. circles.

Miss Picard received many beautiful and useful gifts, after which a musical program was carried out, games played, and dainty luncheon served.

Those present were: Mrs. James Sullivan, Mrs. Crowley, Mrs. Lynch, Mrs. Arthur Jowett, Mrs. Josephine Rose of Walpole, Mrs. Clarence Brainerd of Salem, Mrs. Robert Taylor, Mrs. George Cille, Mrs. William Morrissey, Mrs. Joseph Manning, Mrs. George Davies, Mrs. Archie Sullivan, Mrs. John Carney, Mrs. John Matthews, Mrs. Fred Strobel, Mrs. Donald Scott, Mrs. Margaret Peters, Mrs. Patrick Sullivan, Misses June Taylor, Margaret Morrissey, Hazel Peters, Mary Picard, Helen Lynch, Helen Sullivan and Patrick Sullivan, Augustine-Turner, John Carney, Walter Carney, John Matthews, Barbara Peters.

Bulldogs to Play Lawrence Speed Boys

On Sunday, November 18, the Andover Bulldogs' Football team will travel to Lawrence where they will lineup against the Lawrence Speed Boys. This is the Bulldogs' first game, but from weekly practice on the Cricket field they should make a very good showing. If there are any teams from Lawrence or suburban towns who would like to arrange a game with the Bulldogs they are asked to get in touch with Duncan Bissett, 98 North Main street, Tel. 632-R. The teams must have an average weight of 145 lbs. The lineup will probably be as follows: Tammany and Sullivan ends, Lynch and Hurley, tackles; Hyde and J. Burbine, guards, and Davis, center. The backfield men are Earley, fullback; W. Burbine and Black, halfbacks; White, quarterback.

League of Women Voters Furnishes Pre-election Information

The need for a booth to furnish pre-election information was plainly indicated by the number of people who visited the booth maintained by the Andover League of Women Voters in the office of the Cross Coal Company. Under the direction of Mrs. Carl Plattfeicher this booth was open for three days previous to the election.

Among those who assisted in this non-partisan work were Mrs. Alexander Wadsworth, Mrs. Marion Bigler, Mrs. Addison LeBoutillier, Miss Fannie Davis, Mrs. F. W. H. Stott, Miss Helen Eaton, Miss Louisa Eaton, Miss Maria Fairweather, Mrs. L. C. Newton, Miss Bell J. Butterfield, and Mrs. C. C. Gleton Kimball.

The Ballardvale booth, under the direction of Mrs. A. B. Loomer, was open Monday, November 5, and was visited during the day by many residents of that town.

Horowitz Plays to Enthusiastic Audience

"The finest piano concert I ever heard" was the opinion of Andover's musical critics after listening to the brilliant program given by Vladimir Horowitz before a large and enthusiastic audience in George Washington hall last evening.

Although the applause was vigorous and enthusiastic, perhaps the most spontaneous was heard after the Chopin group to which the artist generously added another number.

The audience included not only students from Phillips and Abbot academies, but large groups from Rogers Hall and Bradford academies as well as music-lovers from Lawrence and North Andover.

The program:

Variations Serieuses	I	Mendelssohn
Sonata, C Major	II	Scarlatti
Capriccio	III	Scarlatti
Two Intermezzi, Op. 118, 119	IV	Brahms
Rhapsody, Op. 119	INTERMISSION	Brahms
Ballade, G Minor	Chopin	Chopin
Two Mazurkas	Chopin	Chopin
Three Etudes	V	Chopin
Funerailles	VI	Liszt
Au Bord d'une Source	VI	Liszt

Recount Makes Small Difference in Andover

Three votes gained by Cole and five lost by Allen, candidates for Governor; none gained or lost by Barry, and ten lost by Warner, candidates for Attorney General, was the result of the recount held in Andover on Thursday.

The figures are as follows: Original count for Allen 3196, recount 3191; Cole 1306, 1309; Warner 3126, 3116; Barry 1200, 1200. The discrepancy in the figures for Warner were due to an error in tabulation in Precinct 4, rather than to an error in counting, changing the vote from 624 to 614.

Attorney Joseph L. Burns represented Cole and Barry while Michael A. Burke acted as deputy inspector.

The recounting of the 4650 ballots occupied the time from 9:00 a.m. to 12 m. and 1:00 to 5:00 p.m. The work was done by the Essex district with credited with 1000 votes less than he received.

The number of votes cast in his favor in Ward 6 in Lawrence was 4534 making a total of 5692 rather than 4692 thus giving him a lead over Eaton of 1181 instead of 181.

Legion Auxiliary Install Officers

Mrs. Sarah Long was again elected president of the Ladies' Auxiliary to Andover Post 8, American Legion, at the meeting held headquarters on Thursday evening. Other officers elected were: Mrs. Isabel Abbott, senior vice president; Mrs. Jessie Miller, junior vice president; Mrs. Florence Troutman, secretary; Mrs. Mary Alexander, treasurer; Mrs. Anna Davis, chaplain; Mrs. Helen Gouck, historian; Mrs. Margaret Brown, sergeant-at-arms; Mrs. Rose McCarthy, Mrs. Mary Gaiside, Mrs. Mary Welsh, executive committee.

The installing officers, Mrs. Lillian Burnham of Gloucester, state vice president, and Mrs. Lenora Irving, county vice president, as sergeant-at-arms were presented with book-ends and also with bouquets of chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Sarah Long received a handsome basket of chrysanthemums and Mrs. Annie Foster was given a handbag. Mrs. Foster retires this year as historian of the local unit having held that office since its inception.

Among the guests present were Commander Henry P. Clukey of General William F. Bartlett post, G. A. R.; Mrs. Kent, daughter of the oldest living member of the local post of the G. A. R., John B. Russell; Mrs. Wright, representing the Woman's Relief Corps; Commander Kibbee of the Sons of Veterans; Mrs. Lillian Nason of the Ladies' auxiliary of the Sons of Veterans; Commander Percy Dole of Andover Post 8, American Legion; Dr. Nathaniel Stowers, deputy commissioner of the Boy Scouts; Mrs. Mildred Eldridge, president of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the North Andover Post of the American Legion as well as the presidents of the Lawrence and Methuen units.

Members of the Andover Post of the American Legion were present and assisted in serving the following menu: Chicken patties, peas, mashed potato, relishes, rolls, coffee, ice cream and cake. Miss Gertrude Hilton was chairman of the refreshment committee.

Tells of Punched-Exeter Game in 1908

Editor, Andover Townsman, Andover, Mass.

Dear Sir: Will you allow me to correct what I think is an error in your list of football games between Punched and Exeter High Schools recently published?

The first game, you say, was in 1911. I am quite sure the first game was in 1908, at Exeter, which we won 9 to 6. The score was tied at 6 for some time and finally Captain Tom Kyle made a fair catch from which Roy Hardy kicked a placement goal from about the forty-yard line, making the final score of 9-6.

The next year, the year of our "Great Team" the game was played at Andover and resulted in "No score".

I remember the team which I called "Great" so well that I am taking the liberty to name the players as I remember them:

Ends, Lindsay and Towne
Tackles, Haigh and Hickey
Guards, Morrison brothers
Center, Rhodes
Quarter and Captain, Kyle
Halves, Boland and Smith
Full back, Anderson.

The next year we lost the game at Exeter 10-0.

Yours truly,
MYRON E. GUTTERSON

WEST PARISH

Mrs. Mary Parkin of Lowell road has been in New York visiting friends.

The Merrill Chapter X. B. K., will hold a regular meeting in the vestry, Tuesday evening, November 20, at eight o'clock.

Robert Lewis, after a brief visit at his home on Lowell road, was called back to Syracuse, New York, where he has been working for some time.

Miss Helen Lewis of Lowell road and Miss Elizabeth G. Lewis of Newburyport visited friends in Portland over the week-end and holiday, making the trip by auto.

Essex Pomona will meet with Andover Grange on Thursday, December 6, at ten-thirty in the morning. Dinner will be served by the Woman's Club of the Grange.

The Merrill Chapter X. B. K. are holding an entertainment at the West Church Vestry this evening with Pitt Parker the well known cartoonist as entertainer. Are you going?

The Ladies' Aid society will give a three-act play, "How the Club Was Formed," on Friday evening, November 23, at 7:45 o'clock. There will be a table of domestic articles for sale also.

The Woman's club of Andover Grange met in Grange hall on Tuesday afternoon to sew for Lawrence General hospital. Plans were also made at the meeting for the Pomona dinner on December 6.

Saturday, November 17, will be the last day of the special sale at the Andover Bookstore. The articles include pottery, brass, glass, leather, books and games for children offering an excellent choice for bridge prizes or Christmas gifts.

Essex Aggie will hold the graduation exercises for the Class of 1928 at Essex Agricultural School, Hathorne, on Tuesday, November 27, at 2:30 o'clock. Andover has six representatives in the boys' department and several in the girls'.

Andover Grange held a meeting on Tuesday evening with a large attendance. West Boxford and Dracut Granges were the guests of the evening and they gave a fine entertainment consisting of music, dancing and readings. The sixth twenty-five had the refreshments in charge.

The R. P. C. Girls' Club will hold a bridge and whist party at the home of Miss Winona Boutwell, Shawsham road. Tables may be reserved by telephoning Miss Boutwell at 474-W. The proceeds of this party are to be used towards financing the club's Christmas work. They are planning to take one of the Telegram's opportunities.

Because the December meetings of Andover Grange come on the first and third Tuesdays instead of their usual time, the LaFollet Club will hold its December meeting on Tuesday, December 11, at the home of Mrs. Mabelle Ward Foster, Lowell road. Each member is asked to carry a twenty-five cent suitable for a child instead of a gift for an older person. These toys will be used to make some children happy who otherwise would have no Christmas.

Office Boy: Two men outside to see you, sir. One is a poet and the other is stone deaf. Busy Editor: Well, tell the poet that the deaf man is the editor.—Family Herald.

ABBOTT VILLAGE

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Ferrier of Moraine street are confined to their home by illness.

Mrs. John Craig of Essex street left to join her husband in Flint, Michigan, where he is now employed.

David Gillispie of Brechin terrace has moved his family to the house he recently purchased on Cuba street.

Mrs. Joseph McCarthy and family of Cuba street left Tuesday for Flint, Michigan, where they will make their future home.

Saturday, November 17, will be the last day of the special sale at the Andover Bookstore. The articles include pottery, brass, glass, leather, books and games for children, offering an excellent choice for bridge prizes or Christmas gifts.

Smith &amp; Dove Retains the Lead

Smith & Dove retained leadership in the Boston & District League in defeating Norwegian Americans Saturday at Andover by two clear goals.

It cannot be said that the Dove team covered itself with glory in capturing the spoils from a much depleted side with only nine men, neither that the side ever appeared like being defeated. Henderson in goal having an easy time of it.

Eleven players on one side and nine on the other never makes a fair contest and yet despite the handicap the Norwegian team really surprised the fans by putting up a great battle against odds. It was stated that one of the auto parties got lost in its travels which accounts for two of the players being missing.

It was pleasing, to see Denholm and J. Gentiles putting up a big argument in a robust game of soccer. The boys tackled well in defending their lines and this accounts for Henderson being less employed than heretofore this season. At the same time, fully aware of the fact there were no winners to mark time with, the backs were kept employed and came along with satisfaction.

McFarlane and Smith helped to make up a good intermediate line although the former has been seen to better advantage this season. The flies in the ointment were the three inside forwards that failed to function and fall in with the men behind, McLaugh, D. Gentiles and Scott all failing to open out the play. McCullough in particular was much neglected in the second half.

Markusen, Norwegian right half, was easily the most conspicuous player on the field. He was in on every play and master of every situation. O. Arnesen in goal played a good game, two of his saves being of a brilliant character, while the two backs were always dependable.

The intermediate line with Markusen, the leading light more than held the Doves' front rank.

McCullough bagged both goals for the Doves, one each half. His first one, a left foot drive after combination with Gentiles.

The lineup:

Truck Runs Into Stone Wall

Tuesday afternoon at 4:45 o'clock at the corner of North Main and Harding streets, a Nash touring car, Massachusetts registration number 382,585, owned and operated by George L. Butler of 29 High street, Methuen, crashed into a telephone pole. Mr. Butler was traveling in the direction of Lawrence. Butler turned out in order to avoid hitting a truck which was in front of him. In so doing, Butler's car crashed into a telephone pole and then turned over on its side, smashing the top and body of the car.

Henry Clea of 123 Hampshire road, Methuen, and Joseph Martin of 537 Essex street, Lawrence, passengers in the Butler car, were severely injured and were removed to the Lawrence General hospital in the Central Fire station ambulance.

Philip Philadavia of Methuen and Henry Lacourse of 195 Valley street, Lawrence, who were also occupants of the Butler car, were badly shaken up.

The first Armistice service for children was held Monday morning in the Town hall with Commander MacKenzie of the local post of the American Legion presiding.

Recitations were given by the school children including "The Song of a New World" by Etta Larkin; "The Dead to the Living" by Donald Dumont and "The Name of Old Glory" by John Burns assisted by Josephine Burns as flag bearer.

Appropriate music was rendered by the girls of the Punchedard Glee club and the Punchedard orchestra directed by Miss Miriam Sweeney.

The selections chosen were "Ring Out! Sweet Bells of Peace" by Caro Zoma in which Mary Lamont, soprano and Minnie Valentine, contralto, had solo parts; "The Star Spangled Banner" by Charles Massey in which solos were rendered by Florence Blodau, soprano and Minnie Valentine, contralto.

The members of the Punchedard Girls' Glee club are: Florence Blodau, Mary Lamont, Dorothy Wade, Eleanor Bacon, Louise Sherman, Janet Bowler, Grace MacDonald, Marion Souther, Eleanor Harden, Ruth Swenson, Alice Ryley, Gertrude Dyer, Bessie Downes, Ruth Scannell, Inez Webster, Eleanor Hill, Norma Matheson, Mary Partridge, Eleanor Ramsdell, Jean Scannell, Nellie Misenti, Flora Bacon, Grace Russell, Jennie Chandler, Rose Chandler, Mary Rennie, Marion Rice, Helen Sayles, Dorothy Jenkins, Eleanor Jenkins, Hazel Polgreen, Dorothy O'Connor, Virginia Abercrombie, Madeline Kimball, Dorothy Ruhl, Minnie Valentine, Dorothy Foster, Grace Hatch, Evelyn Marr, Christine Burns, Jane Ritchie, Amy Phillips, Rose Eggitton, Margaret Collins, Mary Dwyer, Betty MacLellan, Margaret Laurie, Thelma Bluff, Margaret Fairweather, Alyce Sayles, Eleanor Daley.

The officers are: president, Mary Lamont; vice president, Mary Partridge; secretary, Dorothy Ruhl; treasurer, Florence Blodau; librarian, Jean Scannell.

Members of the Punchedard orchestra are: Alfred Greenfield, violinist; Margaret Edgar, violinist; John Garvey, violinist; Alice Howes, violinist; Doris Johnson, banjo-mandolin; Emma Briggs, banjo-mandolin; Charlotte Gillespie, pianist.

Dr. Stowers made an excellent address urging his young hearers as they grew into the glory of influence to strive for the preservation of peace between nations and to give their support to measures intended to prevent a repetition of the horrors of the recent war. In imagination he pictured the wishes of the Unknown Soldier who would not wish us to glorify in the glory of war, the glory of victory, the glare of bugles, the thrill of enlisting and the joy of marching but to remember the heartless women left behind, sickness, disease, and sacrifice and to guard against such calamities in the future.

The joy and excitement of the first Armistice day was occasioned by the fact that the war was over rather than that a victory had been won.

Dr. Stowers later in the program explained the proper way of displaying our national emblem in a way so clear that the children as well as their elders will remember it, illustrating his points by the use of flags hung on either side of the hall. He also called attention to the small hand-sewn flag with its thirteen stripes and thirteen stars hung directly over the stage. This flag which is over one hundred years old is now the property of the local post of the American Legion.

The program was concluded by the singing of "America," pledge of allegiance to the flag, benediction by Father Branton, taps by John Schermer and the one-minute silence at 11 o'clock.

The program:
Welcome Commander George MacKenzie
Song—"Star Spangled Banner" Audience
Payer Rev. Alfred C. Church
Recitation—"Song of a New World" Etta Larkin

Mass Distribution Must Accompany Mass Production or Glutted Markets Will Plunge Country into Depression—This May Be Accomplished by Up-to-Date Advertising Planned on a Scientific Basis

Babson Park, Massachusetts, November 16, 1928.

"The right kind of advertising was never more essential to business progress than at present. American factories are geared up to tremendous production in nearly every industry. These goods must flow unintercepted in huge volume to the consumer. In other words, mass distribution must accompany mass production or glutted markets would at once plunge this country into depression. Mass distribution can be accomplished by extensive advertising. Furthermore, business history clearly shows that advertising has been one of the greatest constructive forces for prosperity and a higher standard of living.

"In spite of the economic necessity of advertising, however, many business men complain that it is not pulling as it once did. They forget that competition is keen in advertising as in all other fields. The demands on the readers' time and attention have grown to the point where only exceptionally good copy, telling a strong, new, and interesting story, gets across. Also there is a tendency to expect too much of advertising and too little from the appeal of the product itself. The secret of successful merchandising is to carry what people want, rather than to endeavor to make people buy what one has in stock—to help the customer to find what he wishes, rather than in forcing him to buy something already on hand. Successful advertising, therefore, depends more on discovering, making, and offering articles which the public desire than on any other factor. The agencies and national advertisers who are most successful are those who spend their time studying the public demands and selecting something to advertise that the public wants, rather than preparing copy for some definite product. People always have money to spend for what they want most. The problem is to first find out what they want most, manufacture it, carry it in stock and advertise it.

Market Research Necessary to Successful Advertising

"The old hit-or-miss methods of advertising are rapidly giving way to campaigns based on careful scientific research. Progressive concerns are studying their markets before they launch their advertising. They do not merely make a sudden decision to advertise, then make a guess at how much they will spend on it, and finally select their newspapers and magazines on a purely arbitrary basis. Costly experience has shown them that much money can be lost in advertising that has not been carefully planned and preceded by market study. On the other hand, they know that careful investigation of the market for their particular products not only gives them an accurate basis on which to advertise, but often times reveals new uses which had not been thought of before. Business executives are determined that advertising be done on a scientific basis and that the results from it be measured as accurately as possible in the sales records. "Some newspapers have done a lot along the line of market studies to help their advertisers, and the results have been highly encouraging. On the other hand, there still remains a tremendous opportunity for service along this line. The recent proposal of the Association of National Advertisers to form a statistical bureau to conduct a survey of daily newspaper circulation by counties over the entire United States is an effort to enable concerns doing national advertising to buy their space on a more scientific basis and to make sure that the advertising is covering most efficiently their own market areas. Under this plan newspapers would be called upon to analyze their circulation figures on the basis of localities and submit this vital information to the bureau. Such a plan can do much in taking the guess-work out of national advertising and produce more sales per dollar of expenditures. The benefits from such a scientific approach to the problem fall both upon those doing the advertising and the newspapers in which it is carried. If business men have confidence that their advertising is handled efficiently they are more ready to increase their appropriations.

Advertising Must Keep in Step with the Times

"Inasmuch as advertising, like literature, is really a picture of the customs, habits, modes of living, and ideals of the people, it must always keep abreast of the temper of the times. One outstanding feature of our present mode of living is speed. This is an age of rapid motion. It will become more and more rapid, rather than less so. People will learn to relax in motion and to live more deeply, but there will be no turning back to the less rapid days. All progress has been marked by an increase in speed—the conquering of space and time. The trend is a fundamental one—not a passing phase. All branches of business are affected. Some are being changed completely. The most active securities on the New York Exchange today represent companies directly helping people to live more rapidly. Food is changing—witness the three-minute cereal, increasing use of canned goods, automatic cooking range, and the delicatessen. The trim, smart lines of women's clothing reflect the prevailing desire for freedom of movement and appearance of fleetness. It is not mere fact that is causing women to wear two pounds of clothing instead of nine or ten pounds as in former days. Dwelling-house building is being revolutionized by the wider circle in which people move.

"The railroads, the automobile, the intense interest in aviation all are evidences of the desire for speed. Advertising in so far as possible must be in keeping with this age. If it is based upon an appeal that is static rather than dynamic it will fail. Already the static picture is obsolete in advertising. Copy that produces the sensation of motion, speed, either by association with moving objects or by other uses of line or color is today the kind that is producing the best results. One good example is the new hotel, Sherry-Netherland, which illustrates the architect's success in building the impression of speed and motion in a New York skyscraper. The soaring lines by which the structure rises give the impression of rocket-like ascent. The use in advertising of stream lines, diagonals, and associations which decrease the effect of bulk and increase the effect of possible speed are those that appeal most at the present time.

Truth in Advertising Paramount

"Exaggeration or falsehood in advertising makes no impression on the American people today, except one of contempt. While people are still just as emotional, just as swayed by their feelings and impulses as ever, they are also far better adapted to distinguishing between the false and the truth in advertising. While untrue or unethical advertising in the past may have temporarily fooled the people it never has really paid, and to attempt it is not only wrong, but suicidal today. People are more sophisticated and more cynical than they were in the old days. It does not matter how cleverly written, how artistic, or dramatic an advertisement may be, it will be repudiated by the public if it is untrue. The failure of such an advertiser is exactly what he deserves. Great progress has been made in eliminating dishonest advertising within the ranks of business and advertisers themselves. They should be given great credit for cleaning up what was once a disgraceful situation. Efforts in this direction should not be relaxed for a moment. Only that type of advertising will live which is kept on a high moral plane. During the next ten years, moreover, the American people, having obtained more of the material things of life, will reach out for the higher, or spiritual things. Advertising should be a leader rather than a lagger in appealing to the higher ideals and aspirations of the people. The Babsonchart now records business as four per cent above normal, compared with one per cent above normal a year ago."

Reading Electric Meters Easy Job For Householder

By many people the reading of the electric meter, placed usually in a cellar or closet in the home is considered difficult, but in reality it is little more difficult than reading the time from a watch. The difference between a watch and a meter is that the meter has two more hands and that each alternate hand runs in the opposite direction. In the meter the dial on the right is the units figure, the next to the left the tens, the third the hundreds, and the fourth the thousands. If the first hand is at five and the second hand between four and five, the reading would be forty-five. If the first hand is at nine and the second hand almost at nine, remember your watch analogy. If the minute hand on your watch is at eleven, you would not say it was 11:55, but you would say 10:55. So similarly, the reading of the meter, with the dial hands in the last mentioned position, would not be 99, but 89.

Sometimes customers state that the company's meter reader has been careless, that he was on the premises hardly more than a minute, and that he barely glanced at the dials. As a matter of fact, meter reading is a work in which practice makes for both speed and accuracy. A glance tells him the story, just as a glance at a watch gives any person the time. When one considers the millions of readings taken during the year, the percentage of errors from this source is remarkably low. Even though an error in reading might be made one month, the next month's reading rectifies it, since the meter registration is cumulative and the register hands are not reset to the zero position at times when the meter is read.

BALLARDVALE

Obituary

ELIZABETH FARRELL

Miss Elizabeth Farrell died Tuesday night after a lingering illness. She was born in Manchester, England in 1850 and came to this country in 1865. She had resided in Lawrence for a long time, coming to Ballardvale twelve years ago.

Miss Farrell was a member of the local Methodist church and always took a keen interest in its welfare.

Funeral services were held this afternoon at two o'clock at her late home on Marland road, with Rev. E. H. Scheyer, pastor of the Methodist church officiating. Interment was in Bellevue cemetery, Lawrence.

A sightseer noticed an aged rustic sitting before his cottage and inquired, "Have you always lived here?"

"Sir?"

"Have you always lived here?"

The farmer was still looking blank when Aunt Sarah appeared in the cottage door and explained to her spouse: "What for you don't understand, Silas? He means: Did you live here before you were born, or was you born after you moved here?"

Brownies Again Defeat Macs

The Brownies of the Margaret Slattery Class of the Free Church again won from the Macs on the Shawshheen alleys taking two strings and the total. Miss Etta Brown was high with 103 and 284 and Miss Sadie MacLeish hit 102 and 277.

Infantile Art

Essie was drawing. "What is the picture?" I asked. "It's papa," she answered. Then musingly, as she held the paper off and glanced at it critically: "No, I guess I'll put legs on it and call it a cow."

SCHOOL EXERCISES

Appropriate Program in Observance of Tenth Anniversary of Armistice Day. Legion Delegates Speak

The tenth anniversary of the Armistice was celebrated with appropriate exercises at the Shawshheen school on Friday morning and two members of Andover post American legion, Robert V. Deyermund and Percy J. Dole, were present. Mr. Deyermund gave the children a very interesting account of the life of a soldier picturing it from the time the boys entered Camp Devens until the Armistice was signed. P. J. Dole, commander of the legion also spoke and showed the children a very interesting exhibit of war relics.

The remainder of the program was given by the school children in charge of Miss Genevieve McNally and was greatly appreciated by the large number of parents and friends present.

The decorating in the hall, which was tastefully done by Henry Todd, consisted of American flags on the stage, the American colors on the balcony in the rear of the hall, and the flags of the Allied Nations on the side walls.

Dr. Conlon at P. T. A.

Dr. Frank A. Conlon of Lawrence was the speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the Shawshheen Parent-Teacher association Wednesday evening in the school hall and his talk on "The Yucatan" was greatly appreciated.

Mrs. Albert C. Fischer, secretary, read an interesting report on the state convention held this fall. The ways and means committee reported that the recent bakery sale netted a good sum and announced a winter party to be held Monday evening, November 19. At the close refreshments were served by the hostess committee.

Suits of Interest Filed at Salem

The following cases of interest to Lawrence were among those entered at the November return day of the Superior court, at the office of the clerk of courts, at Salem:

Benjamin Babb, administrator of estate of George E. Babb, of Andover, vs. Hildreth & Rogers Co. of Lawrence as owners of the building and Salem Elevator Works Inc. for $25000 each, for fatal injuries to intestate from the dropping of an elevator in building on Essex street, Lawrence, June 26, 1928, it being claimed that the elevator was defective and the Elevator Works were negligent in making repairs on the elevator.

Florence B. Holt, administratrix of estate of Brooks F. Holt of Andover vs. Louis A. Holt of Shawshheen Village, Andover, in an action of contract for $6000 being a suit on a promissory note.

Saturday, November 17, will be the last day of the special sale at the Andover Bookstore. The articles include pottery, brass, glass, leather, books, and games, for children, offering an excellent choice for bridge prizes or Christmas gifts.

Levels Defeat Leaders

The Plumbs were off balance Tuesday night and the Levels on an even keel gave the leaders their first defeat of the season, winning the total by 12 pins in a hectic battle. Len Sherman hit 116 and 331 and Ralph Hadley 102, 103, 103 for 310 triple.

The Squares overcame the Gabels for full points with Neilson 119 for high single and Wadman 313 for best triple.

The Compasses and Trowels with only four men each had a close battle but the Trowels took three with Downing hitting 118 and 310 and Wiswall 123 and 312.

Jersey Jice-Jacks at Crystal Ballroom Tonight
The Balmoral Associates continue to pile up impressive majorities as the official returns come in at the Crystal ballroom in Shawshheen Village. The attendance record of the winter season of 1927-1928 is already far behind that of the present season on the same date and it is a practical certainty that this lead will be substantially increased as the weeks go by. Tonight and tomorrow night the popular Jersey Jice-Jacks will occupy the orchestral stage, an event which presages another banner throng.
Several changes have been made in the personnel of the Jice-Jacks since the summer season at Roseland several months ago. All these changes have been made with but one object in view, the improvement of the brand of music to be served to Greater Lawrence dance enthusiasts. That the Jice-Jacks have succeeded in reaching the heights is attested by the recent attendance figures both at Crystal and at out-of-town ballrooms, where the local men have been in great demand.

Andover 18—Exeter 0
After holding a heavier Exeter team scoreless for three quarters of the 49th annual contest at Brothers field, Saturday afternoon an inspired and vigilant Andover team forced the breaks eventually turning in a brilliant victory by the score of 18 to 0.
The Blue came through handsomely although not conceding even an outside chance to win. Exeter ruled a topheavy favorite, but as often happens when these rivals meet, the shorter ended swept the opposition off its feet and provided an impressive upset.
Ray Shepard's boys battled gloriously and gave the finest display of the current season. Exeter sustained its worst defeat of the year and this despite the fact that the New Hampshire team played such opponents as Harvard and Yale fresh, Worcester and Hebron Academy.
Andover's total of 18 points was the same as the team ran up in its early victory of the fall, the opening game with Tufts Freshmen.
Andover's line play was powerful and well sustained, meeting fearfully the rugged charges of the Exonians. The Blue backfield ran the ends and spun o' the tackles with plenty of drive, splitting the Exeter line wide open time and again.
Standing out in bold relief was the superlative "team" play of the victorious hosts. There was perfect understanding between the front line and the backfield, a happy balance that was so much better than that furnished by the New Hampshire forces.
Superb interference screened the carrier, while Exeter's hopes rested altogether too much in individual effort.
The game was only a few minutes old when it was evident to the impartial mind that Andover had a good chance to win. As play went on and the offensive drives of the Exonians failed to penetrate the far regions of Andover soil, the Blue's display took on renewed hope and the very air became surcharged with possibilities.
Andover played superior football and was clearly entitled to the laurels. Except possibly in kicking and running back-kicks, the Blue glowed. Particularly was this true in their alertness and it was an eternal wide-awakeness for the ball that led to the rout of the Exeter team.
Although there was glory enough for every member of the Andover team there was just a little additional for Walter Kimball, baseball captain-elect, Bart Viviano, Lyman Westfall, Johnny Broca and Capt. Brett Osborne.
It was Kimball, a 138-pound chap, son of an old Andover athlete, who came into the game as a substitute and left it as the hero of the engagement. He went to the left flank when Gil Wright was hurt and was forced to retire.

Thrice this courageous youngster charged through to block Exeter punts. The first time came near the end of the third period by which time most spectators were visualizing another scoreless tie.

Kimball was in on top of Dean hardly before the ball left his foot. He blocked its clearance and Johnny Broca picked the ball up and was off for a run when he slipped on the turf and the ball became dead at Exeter's 22-yard line.
